

MEDINA LINE

(pronounced muh-DIE-nuh-LINE)

Asheville, NC's Medina Line formed early in 2007 and quickly released their self-produced "live studio" demo CD. The band is currently promoting the demo and are seeking bookings in Asheville and the surrounding area. They will soon be going back into the studio to begin work on a full length CD. Medina Line comes prepared with nearly two hours of material, suited for a variety of venues.

"It's probably just the rain that's making me feel this way"

At its foundation, Medina Line is the product of a mature singer/songwriter working in the Alt. Rock genre. The group's live dynamic is maximized by the presence of Nicky White, performing often complex harmony vocals and percussion (tambourine, shakers, cowbell, guiro, vibra-slap). The two guitarists (James Moats, Tom Bradbury) highlight a strong focus on arrangement and structure. The rhythm section, consisting of Asheville-scene veterans Chad Hildebran (drums) and Dan Taylor (bass), work together as a single unit, often providing rich, melodic undertones. What Medina Line bring to the rock scene in Asheville is something truly unexpected and refreshing.

"Today has found me in a state full of memories"

Medina Line began in 2002 as the writing and recording project of James Moats, a self-coined "singer/songwriter/one-man-band". His web site (www.medinaline.net/james) features lyrics to over 180 songs with his writing credit, and as many recordings, featuring James performing all the instruments and vocals.

"Sometimes I wonder, had I stayed, what would I be wondering about today."
